What is SBIRT?

An evidenced-based approach designed to identify and address substance use disorders through early intervention.

How effective is self-report screening?

Self-report screening using a validated instrument is quick, accurate and effective. It is a valuable tool for identifying risky substance use patterns.

What is a brief intervention?

Brief interventions focus on members who identify as at risk for substance use disorder. It's a conversation with the member to discuss their self-report screening results and possible treatment options. In some cases, simply providing education and resources about the health risks of their substance use may lead to behavior change.

How do I refer a member to treatment?

For help locating a provider who specializes in substance use treatment, go to:

- Find a provider at AetnaBetterHealth.com/Oklahoma/find-provider
- When substance misuse is identified, schedule appropriate follow-up treatment. Frequent contact early on will help keep the member connected and motivated for treatment.

Can I get reimbursed for my time talking to the member?

There are add on payments for certain services to support health care quality assurance and access improvement initiatives including SBIRT screenings. Please refer to Oklahoma.gov/content and navigate to SoonerSelect Provider Incentive DPP PDF for more information.

How can I easily use SBIRT in my office?

You can include a few short screening questions in a written health history form to be completed once a year. For more information on evidence-based screeners, visit AetnaBetterHealth.com/Oklahoma or scan the QR code below.
